

Ebola and Structural Violence

Thursday, June 3 · 12-1pm · Online · All are welcome

Eugene Richardson, MD, PhD
Assistant Professor of Global Health and Social Medicine; Assistant Professor of Medicine, Division of Global Health Equity, Brigham and Women's Hospital
Harvard Medical School
Author of Epidemic Illusions: On the Coloniality of Global Public Health (2020)

Paul Farmer, MD, PhD
Kolokotronis University Professor of Global Health and Social Medicine
Harvard Medical School
Author of Fevers, Feuds, and Diamonds: Ebola and the Ravages of History (2020)

How do the specific histories and practices of global public health fundamentally shape the way epidemics unfold and inequality deepens?

Our two physician-anthropologists speakers, Eugene Richardson and Paul Farmer, have engaged this question together over many years, working not only on the clinical frontlines of Ebola epidemics, but crafting analytic frameworks with which to make sense of those experiences. Join us as they draw on their respective new books to offer on-the-ground insights and critical tools for re-thinking the relationships—and lines of responsibility—between epidemics, inequality, and the field of public health.

This is the keynote presentation of Health Across Borders: Bioethics & Medical Humanities Conference Series – Thursdays 12-1pm · June 3–July 8, 2021

For details and to register for the keynote or any of the sessions:

➔ bioethics.northwestern.edu/conference/

M Northwestern Medicine
Center for Bioethics and Medical Humanities

AND CO-SPONSORS:
M Northwestern Medicine
IPHAM
Institute for Public Health and Medicine

Institute for Global Health
Northwestern